Other Fees

Custodians may charge transaction fees on purchases or sales of certain mutual funds and exchange-traded funds. These transaction charges are usually small and incidental to the purchase or sale of a security. The selection of the security is more important than the nominal fee that the custodian charges to buy or sell the security.

LDWM LLC, in its sole discretion, may waive its minimum fee and/or charge a lesser investment advisory fee based upon certain criteria (e.g., historical relationship, type of assets, anticipated future earning capacity, anticipated future additional assets, dollar amounts of assets to be managed, related accounts, account composition, negotiations with client, etc.).

Expense Ratios

Mutual funds generally charge a management fee for their services as investment managers. The management fee is called an expense ratio. For example, an expense ratio of .50 means that the mutual fund company charges .5% for their services. These fees are in addition to the fees paid by you to LDWM LLC.

Performance figures quoted by mutual fund companies in various publications are after their fees have been deducted.

Neither LDWM LLC nor any of its Supervised Persons (employees) accepts performance-based fees (fees based on a share of capital gains on or capital appreciation of the assets of a client).

Item 7: Types of Clients

Types of Clients

As described in Item 4, LDWM LLC primarily provides customized investment management services to high net-worth individuals, pension, retirement plans, business owners and families.

Account Minimums

There is no minimum account size for assets under management.

Item 8: Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Methods of Analysis

Security analysis methods may include fundamental analysis, technical analysis, and cyclical analysis.

FINANCIAL PLANNING & INVESTMENTS

For mutual funds and exchanged traded funds the analysis includes a review of the funds management team, historical risk and return characteristics, funds exposure to sectors and individual issuers, fee structure and any other relevant factors.

The main sources of information include financial newspapers and magazines, inspections of corporate activities, research materials prepared by others, corporate rating services, timing services, annual reports, prospectuses, filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission, company press release and industry publications.

Other sources of information may use include Yahoo Finance, Morningstar mutual fund and the World Wide Web.

Investment Strategies

The investment strategy used on client accounts is broad asset allocation using mutual funds and exchange traded funds. The principal strategy is long term purchases, but may include short term purchases. Primarily invests for relatively long time horizons.

Risk of Loss

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear. LDWM LLC investment approach constantly keeps the risk of loss in mind. LDWM LLC does not guarantee the results of any recommendation. Investors face the following investment risks:

- Interest-rate risk: Fluctuations in interest rates may cause investment prices to fluctuate. For example, when interest rates rise, yields on existing bonds become less attractive, causing their values to decline.
- Market Risk: The price of a security, bond, or mutual fund may drop in reaction to tangible and intangible events and conditions. This type of risk is caused by external factors independent of a security's particular underlying circumstances. For example, political, economic and social conditions may trigger market events.

LDWM LURIE DAVIS WEALTH MANAGEMENT LLC
FINANCIAL PLANNING & INVESTMENTS

- Inflation Risk: When any type of inflation is present, a dollar next year will not buy as much as a dollar today, because purchasing power is eroding at the rate of inflation.
- Currency Risk: Overseas investments are subject to fluctuations in the value of the dollar against the currency of the investment's originating country. This is also referred to as exchange rate risk.
- Reinvestment Risk: This is the risk that future proceeds from investments may have to be reinvested at a potentially lower rate of return (i.e. interest rate). This primarily relates to fixed income securities.
- Business Risk: These risks are associated with a particular industry or a particular company within an industry. For example, oil-drilling companies depend on finding oil and then refining it, a lengthy process, before they can generate a profit. They carry a higher risk of profitability than an electric company, which generates its income from a steady stream of customers who buy electricity no matter what the economic environment is like.
- Liquidity Risk: Liquidity is the ability to readily convert an investment into cash. Generally, assets are more liquid if many traders are interested in a standardized product. For example, Treasury Bills are highly liquid, while real estate properties are not.
- Financial Risk: Excessive borrowing to finance a business' operations increases the risk of profitability, because the company must meet the terms of its obligations in good times and bad. During periods of financial stress the inability to meet loan obligations may result in bankruptcy and/or a declining value.
